

HASSAN RASHID

CHIEF REVENUE OFFICER

As the Chief Revenue Officer, Hassan steers Tavant's strategy for continued profitable revenue growth, supported by a fully aligned business development engine. Besides, Hassan leads Sales & Marketing for Tavant. Under his leadership and expertise, Tavant VELOX, the company's AI-powered digital lending product suite, is leading the lending industry. With VELOX, Tavant is solving some of the most complex lender and borrower challenges while driving business excellence through technological innovations.

Hassan is the epitome of an inspirational leader for more than ten years. Over the past year, Hassan has managed to take several steps ahead of the Fintech space by paying close attention to industry operational impediments while understanding where and how technology falls short in addressing lending challenges. He has a successful track record of scaling winning businesses by focusing on customer success and aligning offerings based on changing market needs.

With his in-depth industry knowledge coupled with lending experience, he is playing an instrumental role in driving the business performance and accelerating the pace of Tavant's Fintech business. Hassan has successfully led Tavant's positioning as a business solutions and products company. His energy and expertise are fueling Tavant to launch new products and helping the company's clients achieve amazing outcomes.