

Michael Bennett is the Head of Corporate Development for Roc360.

In this role, Michael oversees Roc360's corporate and strategic development, including capital formation, acquisitions, investments and partnerships and related finance activities. He also works closely with external strategic partners of the company to enhance the overall growth and financial soundness of Roc360.

Michael previously worked for Citigroup where he was a senior member of the firm's Private Capital Group, providing a range of financial services to institutional clients of the private bank, including public securities and derivatives trading, alternative investments and private company financing and advisory. Prior to Citigroup, Michael began his career at J.P. Morgan and worked for 10 years across various roles including corporate strategy, private banking and investment sales coverage.

Michael graduated from Butler University with a bachelor's degree in finance and is a CFA charterholder. He lives in New York City with his wife and two children.